What can I say? It takes more than one person to write a book and this book is certainly no exception.

First and foremost, I would like to thank someone who has probably spent an equal amount of time on this book as I. If it were not for her, I most likely would not have completed the book. There were times throughout the process when I believe she actually wanted it more than me. Content to be in the background, quietly researching and building content, Sylvia Brade was a true partner in this venture. Sylvia, from the bottom of my heart, I thank you.

To my editors, Carol Mushing and Moira Wallace, thank you for volunteering your time and expertise. It's been awhile since I had to think about dangling participles and whether to use colons or semi-colons! Thanks for doing the thinking for me.

To my photographer, Janet Bedford, I now appreciate what "Top Models" go through! I have spent my life trying to keep my chin up, demonstrating a positive attitude. Who knew "chin down" and "give me some attitude" creates the best pictures? Thank you for your persistence.

To my web designer, Brenda Baird, thank you for developing the networkingedge.ca website with very little notice or direction. You have been with me since the beginning and I am grateful for your loyalty.

To my publisher, TRI Publishing at TRIMATRIX, thank you for working toward an impossible deadline and managing a couple of changes in direction. I truly appreciate your patience and professionalism.

To my team, Lisa Dennie, Sherry Pelkey, Jennifer Cameron, Carol Mushing, and Anna Adams, who not only supported this project but continue to support me regardless of what I ask of them. I am blessed to have you all.

And to everyone who contributed a story, quote or idea, your input makes this book "real". I appreciate your contributions. Keep them coming for volume 2!

This book is dedicated to my family

Tom, Andrea, Marlee, Derek and Rowan

You have no idea how much material you provided for my workshops, articles and books!

If it wasn't for the stories I tell about each of you,
I would be a pretty boring writer and trainer!

Thank you!
